HOME COMING DAY AT THE STATE UNIVERSITY

THANKSGIVING SET APART FOR BIG CELEBRATION.

All Former Students, Whether Graduates Or Not, Are Urged to be Present.

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 21.—Thanksgiving day is to witness the biggest Home-Coming Day "Florida" has ever seen. Every former student, whether a graduate or not, is invited and urged to attend. Indications are for a record breaking attendance.

A big time is assured every old Florida man. At noon an Alumni luncheon will be served in the University Commons, where a former student would rather eat than anywhere else in the world. Dr. Murphy will preside—you know the rest.

After luncheon on a short but very important business meeting will be held. The biggest and best football game of the season is to be played in the afternoon. It promises to be a very hotly contested game. But Florida has the better team and will "bring home the bacon."

In the evening the student body will give a dance in the new gymnasium building to all alumni and former students. On the lower floor a smoker will be given for those who do not care to dance.

All former students at Old "Florida" are invited to return and participate in this great "Home Coming Celebration."

MRS. NAOMI GRIDLEY IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah Naomi Gridley died this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home No. 305 North Third street after an illness of several weeks. Her condition became such recently that her son Clarence Gridley, was called to her bedside from Augusta.

Mrs. Gridley was one of Palatka's most estimable women and number her friends by her acquaintances. Although her death was not altogether unexpected it will be a shock to her many friends. She came to Palatka January 1914 from Ohio. She was born at Ironton, O., in 1872. She leaves two sons, Clarence Gridley, of Augusta, and Roy Gridley, of Palatka. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

ARCADE THEATER

 Shirley Mason and Miles Welch.
 Little Shirley Mason, who has formerly co-starred in Paramount pictures with Ernest Truex, and who is now starring in "The Winning Girl," a Paramount picture, will be seen with Niles Welch in that production at the Arcade to-day.

Miss Mason is one of the daintiest of screen players, with both talent and beauty of high order, and has a notable record for legitimate stage work in "The Squaw Man," "The Poor Little Rich Girl" and in many other well known and successful motion pictures.

Charles Ray Tomorrow.

The spirit of student life, the excitement, rivalry and fun of the campus, are to be found in good measure, in "The Girl Dodger" the latest Paramount picture starring Charles Ray which will be shown at the Arcade to-morrow.

This photoplay is a Thomas H. Ince production written by J. G. Hawks and directed by Jerome Storm.

Mr. Ray is said to have one of the most pleasing and yet unusual roles of his career in this production. He is cast for the part of a dreamy bookworm of a student who blossoms forth finally in a most surprising manner in order to help out a livelier fellow student. The mixup that ensues when a girl who is engaged to the other student is mistaken for a chorus girl enamored of that young gentleman, may be imagined.

A screamingly funny Mack Sennett comedy is an added attraction. "The Village Chestnut."

At first it was thought to be a serious accident but proved to be only a slight injury.

RED CROSS RETURNS ARE SLOW COMING IN

INDICATIONS ARE THAT HALF OF QUOTA WAS RAISED.

Meeting of Committee to Be Held This Afternoon to Make Final Report.

Returns from the recent Red Cross Roll Call are slow in coming in, less than half the communities in the county having made their report. Indications are that hardly fifty per cent. of the assigned quota was raised in the county.

Edgar and Mannville went well over their quota, as did Palatka Heights, and several other communities were very close to it. Chairman Hilly said he was convinced that people are tired of drives, and that they were not sufficiently impressed with the importance of keeping up Red Cross activities.

A meeting of the committee will be held this afternoon for the purpose of making a final tabulation of reports and sending returns to headquarters at Atlanta.

SEWING MACHINES IN MONTENEGRO SCHOOLS

(By United Press.)

PODGORITZA, Montenegro, Nov. 21.—Twenty-nine American sewing machines that have produced hundreds of garments for the poor of Podgoritza are today the pathfinders in industrial education for women in Montenegro.

The sewing machines had been used in the workroom of the American Red Cross here, where native women were taught to sew and to make over American hospital garments for their poor. They will form the nucleus of the first industrial school for girls that Montenegro has ever seen.

After turning out 2112 garments for women and children in two months, the supply of material gave out, because of the difficulties of Montenegro transportation. The machines stood idle. But the women who had become so expert in sewing with them held a consultation. They wanted the machines to keep on working.

A committee under Mrs. Corovitch, the forewoman who had cut out every one of the 2112 garments with the care and thrift of an American chapter worker, presented their plan to the chief nurse. They asked for the loan of the work-room and of the twenty nine machines to start a sewing school for the girls of Podgoritza.

Never before in the history of Montenegro has there been industrial education for young women. The men, if they have the money, may go to the gymnasium. But education for girls—never! The twenty-three women who had gained American skill in two months had learned something and with the aid of the Americans they planned the first sewing school. The school has just begun, after turning away three times the applicants it could admit.

NOW MAKING BUTTER FROM LEATHER REFUSE.

British Learn, Like Rhinoceros, That They Can Eat Anything.

(By United Press)
 LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Britisher is beginning to realize that, like the rhinoceros, he can eat anything.

During the war butter vanished from the menu, the only obtainable substitute being margarine. The small boy, asking his parent what was margarine made of, invariably got the vague reply, "O, buts or something."

But now the small boy knows. And so does his parent.

The Government recently found itself left with large surplus stocks of lanoline and castor oil, and it was announced in the press that those had been "taken over for the manufacture of margarine."

And now scientific journals are telling the much-tried British public "it is possible that during the war you may have buttered your bread with the refuse of hides from which your boots were made."

Butter still being unobtainable, the restaurant-diner is no longer content to be told by the waiter that the yellow substance on his plate is "margarine." He wants to know which kind—lanoline, castor oil, or hide refuse. And he eats it or not, according to his tastes in the matter.

TRAMMELL TELLS WHY HE OPPOSED RATIFYING TREATY

FLORIDA'S JUNIOR SENATOR SEEMS TO HAVE COME UNDER SPELL OF THOSE WHOSE ARGUMENTS ARE BASED ON OUR ISOLATION AND PERSONAL DESIRES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Senator Trammell today made the following statement regarding his vote against the unqualified resolution of ratification of the treaty offered by Senator Underwood in the Senate last night:

"Practically all of the Democratic faction has previously voted in favor of certain reservation which would make plain the intention of the United States, that this Government retain exclusive control over domestic problems, such as immigration, traffic, coastwise traffic and other international affairs such as prevention of Monroe doctrine, the prohibition against Great Britain controlling with six votes in any matter in which America was interested. The right of our Government to determine whether or not it has performed its obligations."

"If it should decided to withdraw from the league of nations, and also that the council of the league of nations should not have power to direct and require American soldiers to defend the territorial boundaries and political integrity of their nations except when the same was authorized by Congress. I had voted along with a large majority of my Democratic associates for these reservations to be embraced in the resolution of ratification and had done so because I believe in making plain the United States' interpretation of the clauses of the league of nations touching upon these questions. The same views were entertained by a big majority of both Democrats and Republicans of the Senate. These interpretations were in line with the construction placed upon the sections involved by the President. Whether or not the foreign members of the council of the league of nations would have placed the same construction upon them is in my mind very doubtful and I thought the safest policy to protect the interests of our own country was to specify in the resolution of ratification the construction we placed upon these sections of the league of nations which are of such vital interest to America. Neither Mr. Underwood or any one who supported his resolution had the least hope of it being adopted, but merely desired an expression to give the President the opportunity to state to the powers that the American senate would not ratify the treaty without at least placing in the resolution of ratification certain interpretative reservations."

"I remained true to my convictions and voted against the resolution, because I honestly believe that interpretative reservations should be inserted in the resolution of ratification. The President has often been quoted as stating that he did not object to certain reservations. I am most earnestly in favor of the league of nations as contemplated by this treaty and by vote after vote have shown that I desired such league, but by strong sentiments for this world movement for disarmament and peace only intensify my determination to make plain and clarify certain covenants of the league of nations which if not defined and interpreted according to our understanding in our resolution of ratification may bring confusion and conflict to the United States in the future. We must bear in mind that the United States would have no vote in the league of nations upon any matter in which our republic is in dispute, therefore, unless we make plain our interpretation of certain clauses of this covenant foreigners on the council would rule supreme when American interests may be solved in direct dispute. Our nation would be without any voting strength upon what America construed the covenant to mean under which we were being tried upon a dispute with another nation."

TRAIN BUMPS A TROLLEY.

(By United Press.)

ATLANTA, Nov. 21.—Five were seriously but not fatally hurt when a train backed into a street car on the Southern Railroad belt line to-day. The street car was demolished. The car stopped at the crossing and the conductor, not seeing the train, flagged the car ahead. The train was going at a slow speed which is believed to account for the lack of fatalities.
